March 2015 Employee of the Month

Jan Achelpohl was selected as Employee of the Month for March 2015. She is the police department's Evidence Custodian and since joining the department, she has been instrumental in transitioning our department from the old evidence system to the new BEAST bar coding system which began in 2010. Jan has been the primary administrator of this program since its inception.

Jan is a very conscientious, organized, and meticulous employee, which is extremely important when dealing with issues of an evidentiary nature. She is organized in her disposal of evidence making way for new evidence which is extremely important due to the limited space for storing evidence.

Jan works closely with judges, attorneys, States Attorney staff members, and members of the public. She has received numerous compliments from the State's Attorney's Office for her professionalism in both her duties as the Evidence Custodian, as well as her professionalism and preparedness for testimony and court presentation when required.
