December 26, 2017

A public meeting is scheduled for 6:00 p.m. Wednesday, January 3, 2018 in the City Council Chambers of Quincy City Hall.

The Quincy Police Department recognizes that in order to best serve our community the racial and ethnic makeup of the department should reflect that of our citizenry. To help meet that goal, the department is seeking the assistance of our community members.

At Wednesday's public meeting, Chief Rob Copley will kick off the Quincy Police Department's 2018 application and testing period. The testing and hiring procedures will be explained, including the workshops that the department will utilize to help candidates prepare for the testing. The public meeting will be geared towards seeking assistance from within the community to help recruit candidates that will allow the department to more closely mirror the diversity of our community.

Please make plans to attend this important public meeting. Thank you.
