

The following exterior features of the Morris and Lebra Felsenheld House, 1422 Maine St., are protected by City Ordinance No. 8744, approved March 11, 1997:

1. Overall massing of the two-story structure with its steeply-pitched, multiple hip roof, the two-story wing to the rear, and the one-story wing attached to the two-story rear wing.
2. Exterior materials including the limestone foundation walls and brick exterior walls.
3. Decorative brick chimney on the East facade with stone trim and decorative brickwork, and the simple brick chimneys on the East and South facades.
4. All window and door openings with stone lintels that have scallops and carvings, brick lintels, stone sills, and wood framework.
5. The double front door opening with full toplight, stone header with scalloped edge and carved woodwork.
6. Primary one-story, full-facade porch on the North facade and the secondary one-story entry porch on the Northeast corner of the house, both with wood rails, balustrade, posts, and floor, as well as all carving.
7. All decorative elements, including brick beltcourses, wood cornice, wood brackets, carving between brackets, and angled brickwork at corners capped with stone.
8. Lancet-shaped dormers on the North and South facades with shell carved at the peak.
9. One-story bay on east facade with original stone and brickwork, and decorative wood trim.
10. Brick walk from front porch to Maine Street sidewalk, and brick City sidewalk parallel to Maine Street.
11. Low stone wall on West edge of property.
